GOP Precinct Conventions Scheduled

Dr. John B. Levens, Chairman for the Hancock County Republicans in Mississippi, said today that the GOP's Precinct Conventions will be held this Saturday, April 22, at 10 a.m. According to the Hancock County GOP Chairman, Dr. Levens, "The theme of the Republican Party is the Party Of The Open Door and Party Leaders stress that Precinct Meetings are open to anyone who shares the principles of the Republican Party."

"Precinct Conventions are the first step in the process of selection of Presidential and Vice Presidential candidates and the adoption of a Party Platform. This is the grass roots level of political activity," Hancock County GOP Chairman, Dr. Levens, said. This Saturday will be as important to the people of Hancock County as the National Convention in San Diego with respect to what it means for local government and representation."

"This year the Republican Party offers more to the people of this state and our county than ever before. We have a slate of candidates for state, and national posts who, working with the President, can build Mississippi to a position of leadership. This can become a reality through the leadership of the Republican Party."

Dedication Ceremonies Herald Bright Future For Stanislaus

by Adoree Shortle

Echo staff writer Governor William Waller and the Most Rev. Joseph Brunini, Bishop of the Natchez-Jackson Diocese, headed a list of auspicious guests attending dedication ceremonies of the New St. Stanislaus School Sunday.

The governor commended the Brothers of the Sacred Heart for "overcoming tremendous difficulties" in keeping the 110-year-old school operating, as well as their achievements in developing the $1.6 million academic-recreational complex just completed on the site of the old, badly damaged buildings on the beach in Bay St. Louis.

An estimated 700 guests filled the Resource Center of the main building for dedication ceremonies Sunday afternoon. Among those attending were governmental, clerical and civic leaders from a two-state area as well as a number of alumni of the school.

Michael Haas, Bay St. Louis attorney and St. Stanislaus alumnus, as master of ceremonies introduced special guests Leo Seal, Bay St. Louis Mayor Warren Carver, Brother Pierre St. Pierre, Brother Mark Thornton, Provincial of the New Orleans Province, Mississippi Senator Martin Smith, Brother Lee Barker, State Representative Earl E. Ladner, Jr. and Ralph Aucoin, Student Body President.

As guests and parents of SSC students mingled in the Resource Center before dedication ceremonies, the Stanislaus band entertained with chamber music selections. At the opening of the program, the school choir group performed under the direction of Br. Pierre, president of St. Stanislaus.

Noting the size of the crowd, Governor Waller made a good humored reference to pre-election appearances in the county, saying "I've spoken to smaller audiences in Hancock County."

On a more serious note, the governor praised the brothers for upholding the school's traditions of academic achievement and development of youth and wished them success as "you go forward into your second century of progress."

Bishop Brunini said that the Catholic Church is often criticized for placing too much emphasis on youth, and added emphatically, "I don't know how anyone can put too much emphasis on youth! The youth of the world are all we have for a future," he continued, "and we must concern ourselves with developing them... so we can look forward to their leadership."

The Bishop commented on the national trend of closing parochial schools and told the assembly, "you are more fortunate than you realize," referring to the progressive development of St. Stanislaus.

Br. Lee Barker, principal of the school, described its modest beginning in 1854 as a small school for boys living in the town which was then known as Shieldsboro. For some years a college, Stanislaus now has an enrollment of 540 sixth to 12th grade students, 300 of whom are boarders.

Br. Lee said the school's expansion program, begun in 1966, was seriously hampered by Hurricane Camille, when the complex of 70-year-old brick buildings were so severely damaged that the only feasible solution was to tear them down and rebuild.

A tremendous amount of planning, consultation and effort over a long period of time was expended, he explained, to insure the acquisition of as fine an educational facility as possible.

Acknowledging the demise of parochial schools at the rate of "about one a day," Br. Lee said rather than being discouraged by the trend the St. Stanislaus Brothers are reaching out toward their fullest potential. Mayor Carver spoke warmly of the school's contributions to

Sheriff Tickets Trucks Used For Road Repair

No Tag Or Wrong Tag

All vehicles, private or commercial, operating in Hancock County, must have Mississippi license plates, according to Sheriff Sylvan Ladner.

Ladner said he has issued notices to all contractors in the area that any equipment being used in the county and not bearing up-to-date Mississippi plates will be ticketed and owners or operators subject to fine.

The statement came as a result of an incident Tuesday when sheriff's deputies ticketed trucks with either out-of-state tags or not tags at all, working for Breland Construction Co. on the beach road repair project. County supervisor Jerry Ladner, interceding for Breland, requested that vehicles working for Breland not be required to conform to the law governing state licensing. The sheriff said that when he refused to allow special privileges to the contractor, supervisor Ladner accused the sheriff of stopping work on the beach road.

The sheriff further stated that Breland then agreed to bring in some of his own trucks with Mississippi tags to continue the beach road work.

"I have made no effort to stop work on the beach," Sheriff Ladner said, "Nor am I singling out any one contractor. All contractors working in this county are subject to this state law, and my deputies have been instructed to enforce the law."

According to Ladner, 19 trucks have been ticketed in the past week for working in Hancock County with out-of-state plates, or no plates at all.

The law also applies to county residents claiming homestead exemption but driving automobiles with Louisiana license plates. The sheriff said he has had numerous complaints since taking office in January against local residents guilty of this offense, and road blocks are being set up to stop and ticket offenders.

Board President Criticizes Hospital Administration

Father Charles Johnson, president of the Hancock General Hospital Board, rapped hospital administrators Tuesday night for failure to assume administrative duties, and for lack of compliance with board requests for a written budget control plan.

Hospital admissions are at a low ebb, Johnson noted, causing a proportionate drop in operating income for the hospital. During two previous meetings, Johnson said the board had requested that administrator H. J. Blackledge submit a written proposal for cutbacks in hospital expenditures wherever feasible.

At a prior meeting as well as Tuesday night, verbal reports were submitted to the board by Blackledge, administrative assistant Mrs. Mona Santiago, and Mrs. Denise McDowell, supervisor of Nursing Services.

Mrs. McDowell told the board that recent terminations in the nursing and custodial staffs had necessitated patient care scheduling with minimum staffing.

A discussion of discrepancies in employee time cards brought another reprimand from Johnson who maintained that these were administrative areas that should be handled by hospital officials. Blackledge said that he and Mrs. Santiago were working out solutions to the problems, but wanted the board members to be aware of their existence.

Board treasurer Conrad Mauffray submitted a monthly financial report, ending March 31, showing a cash balance from February of $81,181.20. March disbursements totaled $98,254, of which the largest single item was a payroll figure of $42,714.12. Hospital payroll accounts for almost half of the institution's expenditures.

The report revealed a March income of $103,156.77, leaving an ending balance of $88,082.97.

Bids were opened for an air conditioning system for the newly acquired physicians' trailer. A second advertisement for the system produced only one bid from Southern Airfrigeration, Inc. of Bay St. Louis. The company's price of $894 for installation also included a one-year warranty on parts and labor. The bid was accepted by motion of the board.

Two bids received for a check protector were opened, but taken under advisement by the board, pending inspection of the machines by Mauffray and Mrs. Santiago.

Watch Out!

All motorists are being asked to exercise particular caution when driving in the vicinity of the local schools Friday afternoon. This day has been designated School Clean-Up Day and students from the public and private schools will begin picking up litter on the streets at 1 p.m.

POLICE AUXILIARY

Bay St. Louis Auxiliary Police members met April 11 at the new police station on Old Spanish Trail for a regular meeting and indoctrination of new members.

Harold Heine was elected Auxiliary Chief by unanimous vote. Chief Bill Carbonette made the designation official on the recommendation of the auxiliary force.

April 17 through April 24 has been proclaimed by Governor Waller as Earth Week. He has called on all Mississippians to give due recognition to the task of preserving and maintaining a quality environment in our entire state.

The Neighborhood Ecology Center is inviting all Coast residents to join together in honoring Earth Day by attending the Earth Day Festival this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at the Bay St. Louis Youth Center on Uman Avenue.

The festival will feature three guest speakers, music, entertainment and displays. Refreshments will be served. William Cibus of Earth Resources will speak on the value of the Marshes and the plant life found there.

There is no admission and the NEC is hopeful that all ages and varieties of local residents will come.

If any one wishes to donate a display or participate or help out please call 487-5619.

Next regular meeting of the NEC is Wednesday April 26 at 8 p.m. at Gulf National Bank building. The public is encouraged to attend.

Chamber Head Announces Plans For New Industry

Hancock County supervisors were told Monday of a new industry starting in the county. Talmage Rayborn, Hancock Chamber of Commerce director, asked supervisors to construct 300 feet of roadbed from the Dumnyline Road to the site of a plant to be constructed by Hancock County Industries, a newly-formed company.

The corporation, Rayborn said, has applied for a charter to operate a plant which will manufacture explosive devices. Some $42,000 in operating capital has been raised through private sources, he explained, and about 100 acres of land acquired last weekend from Clay County. The property is situated approximately five miles north of Hancock North Central School, in beat three.

Rayborn said the plant will employ 50 persons to start with and plans are to begin operations about July. James Rester has been named temporary president of the company, with Peter DeMarsh, general manager and plant superintendent.

The board agreed to Rayborn's request for the road construction.

In another matter, two members of the State Library Commission told the board that Hancock County has been chosen as the first recipient of federal funds for new library construction, if anticipated Congressional appropriations come through.

Miss Peggy May, member of the state commission, said that the board should now consider areas of funding construction of a new City-County Library if the state receives a federal allocation under the Library Construction Act of 1954. Under this program, she explained, federal funding will provide 60 percent of the cost of construction with the county paying the balance. She assured the board that Hancock will be given all the funds the state department receives up to 60 percent, but warned that if the allocation falls short of that amount, as it has in the past, the county will have to assume the difference.

Miss Summle Roberts, director of construction for the State Library Comm. told supervisors that according to projections and plans drawn by architect Fred Wagner, the county should plan on an 11,000 square foot building, at an estimated cost of $262,340. Since land has already been acquired for the library, she said, that figure was not included in the total cost estimate.

Miss Roberts also spoke of the possibility of 50-20 funding through an Economic Development Administration program for library construction, if that program is reactivated.

A discussion followed of methods for the county to raise its share of the construction costs, considering monies on

McHugh Addresses Guests At Annual Library Dinner

A capacity crowd filled Haverly's Restaurant in Waveland Monday evening, for the annual Library Association banquet.

Robert McHugh, Daily Herald editor, was guest speaker for the affair, which was also attended by two members of the State Library Commission in Jackson.

William Gaudet as master of ceremonies introduced McHugh, who proved to be an articulate and captivating speaker. McHugh described his childhood in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, where he said he first discovered the joys of a library and H.L. Mencken.

Reading Mencken, McHugh said, inspired him to the state of becoming a bookworm, just as Mencken wrote that "his discovery of Mark Twain had had the same effect on him. As stimulating a speaker as he is a writer, McHugh's at times rather profound philosophical observations apparently have been strongly affected by his years of association with the library world.

He told his listeners that by the simple act of picking up a book we can escape the mundane world of our existence. "The only frontiers in the world of books," he said, "are those we raise for ourselves by the poverty of our imaginations."

Turning to the prevailing economic situation regarding library development, McHugh referred to recent cutbacks in federal library funding and spoke of the vital role a library can assume in a community. "It is a relief to know," he observed quietly, "that as we escape madly across the surface of life, that surface is not as decay." Each of us, he said, is on a journey that is his alone.

Father George Haffner of St. Rose de Lima Church gave the invocation, opening the dinner, and Rev. Charles Gilles of Pearlington, gave the benediction at the closing.

TIGER BAND

Bay High Tiger Band under the direction of Jerry Evans, attended the Mississippi Band Festival at Hines Junior College, Raymond, Miss., last Thursday.

The band received two excellent ratings in contest and field maneuvers, a superior for inspection and good in sight reading. Accompanying the group were Meadeaux Bruce Boudreau, Clyde Craig, Larry Smith and John McKenna.

CEHS Teacher Receives 'Gift Of The Magi'

by Marileen Maher
Echo News Editor

Mrs. Gertrude Stanton has a very special senior class at Coast Episcopal High School, but then Mrs. Stanton is a very special teacher.

Last Thursday morning, the 12 seniors presented Mrs. Stanton with a round-trip ticket to London, England—a ticket paid for with money that was to be used to finance the senior trip.

"I was so surprised and thrilled when they presented me with the ticket," the CEHS English teacher exclaimed. She plans to leave sometime in June and wants to visit the British Isles extensively. "This will be a tour of history and literature," Mrs. Stanton pointed out.

It is a policy at CEHS for each class, beginning with freshman year, to be given two months out of the school year to make money for the class senior trip. Each year the students washed cars, baked and sold cookies, made costumes and enterprisingly provided hot chocolate on cold days for a nominal fee, of course.

Mrs. Stanton has been teaching for 20 years, 12 of which have been spent at the Episcopal school on S. Beach Blvd. in Bay St. Louis. She remembers "There were only four students in the first senior class and it was like conducting a seminar. I enjoy the students here because they are so bright and so eager to learn."

Mrs. Stanton's students? Amy Angel, Byrd Cassibry, Chris Boughton, Sue Collins, Oakie Hays, Pokey Hans, Paul Matthews, Bruce Luck, Selene Steen, Melody Salaun, Cathy Cooper and Camille Wingo.

Don't Just Do Something, Stand There!

Ecology. You're tired of hearing that word, aren't you? That's all you ever see in the newspapers or on television. ecology, war, student unrest... you're sick of it, right? Unfortunately this seems to be the attitude of most Americans. Ignore it and it may go away. However, our problems seem to be getting bigger and bigger and they won't go away until we do something about them.

Someone is. This Friday afternoon students from all schools in Bay St. Louis will be picking up litter in the city. This will be their participation, their contribution to the April Cleanup Campaign.

Saturday will be Earth Day in Bay St. Louis with the newly-formed Neighborhood Ecology Center scheduling activities to begin at 1:30 p.m. at the Youth Center on Ulman Ave.

That's what they're doing. Now what will you do?

Social Security Information

Students 18 and over who get monthly social security payments have an important "assignment" due before the end of the school year, according to Anne E. Anderson, social security representative from Gulfport.

Full-time students in school who are 18 and over and are unmarried can get monthly checks from social security until they're 22-if a parent gets social security benefits, or if a parent has died after working long enough under social security.

"About 550,000 students in colleges, high schools, and trade schools get $33 million a month from social security," Mrs. Anderson said.

A reporting card is mailed to each student beneficiary about 3 months before the end of the school year. The student's "assignment" is to fill in the card and mail it back to social security as soon as possible, Mrs. Anderson said.

"This attendance report is used to determine if the student can continue to get monthly checks," Mrs. Anderson said. "Any delay in returning the reporting card could mean a delay in payments for the student."

Any student in the Hancock County area who needs help with the report or information about his benefits can call the Gulfport Social Security office at 696-1323. The telephone number is 696-1323.

Trumpets In The Morning

I WISH I HAD KNOWN!
Some precepts to those of teen-age under the caption of "Ten Things I Wish I Had Known Before I Was 21" are stated thus:

1. That it was really important to be a Christian.
2. What I was going to do for a living - exactly what my life work would be.
3. That my health after 30 depended in a large degree on what I put into my stomach before I was 21.
4. How to take care of money - that I was really a trustee of what I had.
5. The asset of being neatly and sensibly dressed.
6. That habits are mighty hard to change after you're 21.
7. That worthwhile things require time, patience and work.
8. That a world would give me just about what I deserved.
9. The value of absolute truthfulness in everything.
10. That my parents weren't old fogies after all!

Most young people have what it takes to be a part of the solution instead of being part of the problem. Let us let them know that we care, really care about what happens to them. Let us guide them under the direction of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. Now! STRAIGHT AHEAD!!!

CARE

Gerard had the idea and Fred had the money. Over a mid-night cup of coffee, they agreed to start manufacturing a new kind of toy. As for profits, they agreed on what they assumed would be a simple formula: a "fifty-fifty" split.

Things went well. Nevertheless, for personal reasons, they decided after a year to bring the venture to an end.

Dividing the profits should have been merely a matter of arithmetic. But Gerald insisted he was entitled to an extra share as wages, on the ground that he alone had put in regular working hours at the company office.

Fred finally won the argument - but only after a costly trip to court. Two years of bitter litigation was the price the partners had to pay for failing to make clear, right at the start, what they meant by the expression "fifty-fifty."

The case illustrates the danger of assuming that "plain English" is always plain. When money or legal rights are at stake, people have an astonishing capacity for putting different interpretations on what might at first have seemed perfectly clear.

Consider the following words: "fireproof," "cash on hand," "furniture," "unmarried," "immediately," "children." Plain English? But:

Does "fireproof" mean that the article positively can't burn?

Does "cash on hand" include money in the bank?

Does "furniture" include silverware and china?

Does "unmarried" include someone who was married, then divorced?

Does "immediately" allow for a reasonable delay?

Do "children" include step-children?

Each of these questions has led to litigation. Furthermore, in each instance, courts have given both yes and no answers, depending on the particular circumstances.

Even the lowest propositions or conjunctions can be tricky. The United States Supreme Court itself has had to rule on the meaning of "and" - (11 times) - from "four times" and "but" (twice).

The lesson should be obvious. Not everyone who speaks English is able to use it with precision. Making any important legal agreement is definitely a job for an expert.

During its early development the State of Mississippi boasted three of the most famous long roads in the entire country: the Natchez Trace, the Robinson Road from Columbus to Jackson, and the Jackson Road from Nashville to Lake Pontchartrain.

In the early 1800's settlers swarmed into the Tombigbee country. But the nearest market for their supplies and to sell their produce was Jackson, the State capital. To get there from Columbus, one had to go up the Tombigbee to Cotton Gin Port, thence across to old Pontotoc, across to the Natchez Trace and down it to Jackson, a distance of 260 miles of atrocious traveling. But by direct route between the two towns the distance was only about 130 miles. In March, 1821, the Congress approved the building of a road in this area and appropriated $5000 for it, and construction began in the latter part of August. The contractor was Raymond Robinson, a founder of Raymond, Mississippi, and the work was officially designated The Robinson Road. In 1823 Congress put an additional $7923 into the road, but even this substantial amount was not enough and three years later another $15,000 was given to the Postmaster General for the completion and repair of the highway.

The Natchez Trace mainly followed ridges between Natchez and the border. But the Robinson road had to traverse swampy country full of bogs and small streams which made construction exceedingly difficult, and nowhere along its route were there villages or even country taverns. Eventually some hamlets were started, but they chose higher ground near, but not on, the road. It was not until the road reached the Trace at Turner Brashear's Old Stand, several miles north of Jackson, that the intrepid traveler wheeled his exhausted horses onto hard ground and a smooth road.

The Robinson Road quickly became known from Mississippi to the coastal States. Immigration into this State was heavy at that time and new settlers aiming for the northern sections now had a direct road from the Tombigbee into the delta country instead of a much longer and harder journey through southern Tennessee and down the Natchez Trace. The Jackson Road from Nashville to Madisonville was being built at about the same time, and this route took care of new settlers from the middle west. But the Columbus area was soon comfortably filled up, and other minor roads were built to the thriving villages that sprang up on higher ground near there; besides, the Robinson Road was never much more than a long series of mudholes with broken-down bridges between them. So after it had served its main purpose of opening up the country, the Road was gradually abandoned. Short stretches of it may be seen today as parts of other State and local roads, and its entrance to the Trace is suitably marked where Brashear's Old Stand used to be, within a few miles of the site of the main Choctaw council house. Many thousands of tourists pass this historic spot every year, but it is doubtful if many of them know what the Robinson Road was or how important it was to the development and prosperity of the State.

We've Observed

That Ulman Avenue is already looking better with the first block receiving quite a face-lifting from the work of the Presbyterian laymen on their newly purchased property.

That our Bay police department and Hancock Sheriff's Department were really on the ball Tuesday in setting up a road-block for the Hancock Bank robber.

That our supervisors have really done a terrific job on cleaning up the beach. It's beautiful!!!

That the new interest in bicycling, Bay St. Louis should have a bicycling license. Would supply a lot of information in case they were stolen. Just fifty cents for the license.

That the Breath's lawn looks like spring personified.

The "Pride" posters for the clean-up campaign are really eye-catching. Hope the whole town participates to make it a real community effort.

That the Hancock General Grounds are looking their best, thanks to the efforts of the Candy Strippers.

That spring really must have gotten to me for I can't find anything to criticize.

NOTICE FOR BIDS

Impressions Of A Special Place... For Special People

by Adoree Shortle
Echo staff writer

In one room sunlight streams in the windows, spilling onto walls covered with brightly colored posters which spell out the days of the week, numbers from one to ten, and simple words.

A kaleidoscope of sun and happy color, books and children's drawings, toys, dolls, a child looking with her head on the desk, an older boy helping a small girl write her name and a young woman reading a primer with three students of assorted sizes. Plants and flowers line the window sills in cans and jars, glasses and bottles, all painted and decorated, all nappy. A little green lizard which wandered in one day lives there, unrestricted, a pet fed by the children.

Even when it's raining outside there's still sunshine inside. In another room a corkboard on the wall has pictures of President Nixon and Mrs. Nixon in China, a giant panda who's definitely smiling, flowers with their proper names carefully lettered below, also smiling astronauts. School desks are pulled into little circles, close and friendly, a teacher sits with three children while a fourth reads slowly and carefully, from another circle the soft murmur of children's voices reciting simple sums with the teacher. A child wanders from a group to change the channel on a radio filling the room with gentle music.

A girl with eyes like a fawn has been coloring yellow circles on a workbook page. When she's through everyone praises her efforts and a teacher urges her to pin the page on the wall beside the others.

Later, a teacher sits in the school doorway and watches children running in the yard, another leads a group in exercises, a third talks with a visitor.

It's a special place where visitors are considered special, and are made to feel so. It's a place where the children are growing and developing like the plants on the window sill, in the sunshine of warmth and acceptance.

The acceptance is what makes it special. Through lack of understanding, they are often rejected at home, rejected by the so-called normal world of their peers and adults, rejected even by the city school system which refused inclusion in its system.

Readily accepted by the county school system, a school building was provided in Clermont Harbor, playground equipment donated by the city of Bay St. Louis and installed by the Jaycees. Books and teaching aids have come from every source, love and understanding from the teachers, two of whom are under the county school system, the other two still working under the Association for Retarded Children.

There's still much to be done. There's no janitorial service and the teachers and students have to clean the building, two of the teachers provide transportation for about half of the children.

Most importantly, a special world has been created there, where each child is being helped to learn how to find a place in the other world around him.

And the teachers are learning from the children - the secret places of the heart.

St. Stanislaus High School will host the annual convention of the Mississippi Association of National Honor Society Chapters April 21-22. Nearly 100 chapters from all over the state have been invited and approximately 200 delegates are expected to attend. The purpose of the convention is to elect new state officers and to revamp the state organization in order to make it more responsive to the needs of local chapters. The state association was founded to promote the unity and inter-relationships of local high school chapters. It is governed by the executive board, which is made up of chosen chapter advisors, and three elected officers. It is organized under the auspices of the Mississippi Association of Secondary High School Principals.

WILLIAM BRELAND was recently elected president of the board of the Bay St. Louis Separate Municipal School District. Mrs. Joseph Cox was elected secretary. Breland is vice-president and manager of the Waveland branch of Merchants Bank.

Appendectomy patients now spend only four days in a hospital on the average, a shorter time by far than the 14-day periods of hospitalization typical 25 years ago.

hand as well as the half-mill tax levy now in effect for the library.

Mrs. Nicholas Haas, member of the Hancock Library Board, introduced the two commission members, in town for National Library Week activities, as well as library board vice-chairman Mrs. William Hilliker.

Bids were opened for the purchase of a new motor grader for beat four and the sale of a used 490 motor grader. Mississippi Road Supply Co. submitted the only bid of $38,050 for the new equipment, and offered $1,900 for the old one. Both bids were accepted by the board.

Three bids were received for termite proofing in the Court House. Pest Control Service of Waveland was low bidder with a price of $895 for the advertised service, including a two-year warranty. Other bidders were RED Pest Control at $847 with a one-year retreatment guarantee, and $800 from Bay-Waveland Pest Control. The latter company offered a two-year guarantee.

Sheriff Sylvan Ladner made another appeal to the board for help with loose stock in the county. Ladner said he has received constant complaints from county residents concerning livestock at large causing private property damage. Ladner said he does not have the necessary personnel to handle the problem. The board was, as with past appeals, apparently reluctant to make any monetary commitments in the matter.

Mrs. Nell Ducomb, publisher of Mississippi Monitor, urged the board to advertise on the outside back cover of the once-a-year magazine which documents progress on the Miss. Gulf Coast. For nine years, she said, Hancock County had held that position in the advertising content of the magazine but last year the board changed to the inside back cover.

The price of the outside cover she said was $1,600 and could be paid quarterly. Chancery Clerk John Rutherford said if the board made such a commitment, the expenditure would preclude advertising participation in any other county publications, as the advertising account balance at the present stands at less than $1,000.

The board initially decided to consider the matter for a later decision, but before recessing a motion by Oscar Peterson to buy the outside cover was seconded and passed.

City Commissioner Andre Arceneaux reminded the board of a March 1970 resolution by the city supporting the Jackson Ridge development and told the board that the city administration is still anxious to see the project completed.

Board attorney Ruble Griffin said that an omission in property description on land purchased from Carl Smith for the park had been completed and that the state park commission had requested full deeds of the Gex, Smith and Taranto properties before proceeding with the project. The board passed a motion authorizing Griffin to prepare necessary papers for a 25-year lease agreement for 16-section land, as well as deeds for the purchased properties, to be turned over to the state commission.

Commission Decides To Reclaim Lands

Hancock board of supervisors Monday ratified a Port and Harbor resolution reclaiming lands held by two industries located in the county industrial park.

Port and Harbor director Michael Smith told supervisors that he had been advised by attorneys that the county will have to purchase the 28 acres of industrial land now held by Outriggers, Inc. to effect reclamation procedures, and take the same action with Adams Foods, Inc. Both companies have been charged by the commission with violating restrictive covenants at the industrial area.

In another matter, the board re-confirmed its approval of termination of a contract with Heath's Flying Service at Stennis Field, and approved as well a Port and Harbor Commission resolution deleting an item in the Bayou Caddy development project. Smith said that completion of a hard surface road leading from the

Group Hopes To Organize AARP Chapter

The organizational meeting of Hancock County Citizens interested in forming a local chapter of the AARP (American Association of Retired People) was held at the Senior Citizens Center at Valena C. Jones Building in Bay St. Louis Monday morning.

Fisher, a member of the national and Gulf Coast AARP, discussed the benefits of the organization to the Senior citizen. After a short discussion it was the unanimous vote of the 80 present to go ahead with further plans for organization. Hugh Miller was elected chairman of a 10 person nominating committee and will report at the next meeting which will be May 15th at the same time and place, and will continue to meet the 3rd Monday of each month.

Of those attending, or asking to have their names added, 44 were from Bay St. Louis, 33 from Waveland; three from Clermont Harbor, two from Lakeshore, and four from Pass Christian.

Anyone interested in this organization may call Mr. Fisher for details 467-5663. Coffee was served courtesy of Coast Electric.

Who can do as much for the fifth district as Bill Colmer has?

Representative Bill Colmer is one of the best-loved men in the Congress. And one of the most effective. It would be presumptuous for a man to compare himself to Bill Colmer and his splendid record.

But Bill Colmer has earned a rest; he has chosen to retire. It is time to compare those men who are candidates for the seat he holds. We ask you to consider Daniel D. Guice as your representative.

Dan Guice is about the same age that Rep. Colmer was when he first went to Congress. Dan is the mayor of Biloxi, just finishing his third term. He worked hard, and his city has a lot to show for it. Before that he served in the Mississippi Legislature, and on the A & I Board. He serves on the Advisory Board of the National League of Cities. You will be able to examine his record during the campaign. But first, you probably want to know something else.

WHAT KIND OF A MAN IS DAN GUICE?

He is a descendant of a family of plain people who have lived in Mississippi since 1790. Many members of this family served our country in times of war; several gave their lives in battle. Dan's father, W. L. Guice, was a self-educated man who came down from Natchez to Biloxi where he worked on the schooners before Dan was born. He read for the bar and became a practicing attorney in Harrison County, and saw that all eight of his children went through college.

Dan paid part of his own college expenses by working in Westergaard Shipyard, and as a postoffice employee. After graduating from Ole Miss, he financed his law studies at Tulane by teaching in Biloxi High School.

While a high school student, Dan was active in sports, particularly football and track. He held several class offices, was elected President of the National Honor Society and was the first student senator to represent Mississippi at a National Student Congress sponsored by the American Legion. In college he was president of his fraternity and of the Pan-Hellenic Council. He was also a member of Phi Delta Phi and the Moot Court Board, both honorary legal fraternities. He has been a successful practicing attorney for twenty-five years.

He is a man of deep religious convictions, being a member of the First Methodist Church, where he was superintendent of the church school for many years. He is fair and reasonable in all his approaches to his fellow man, having a deep and abiding respect for the rights and opinions of all men.

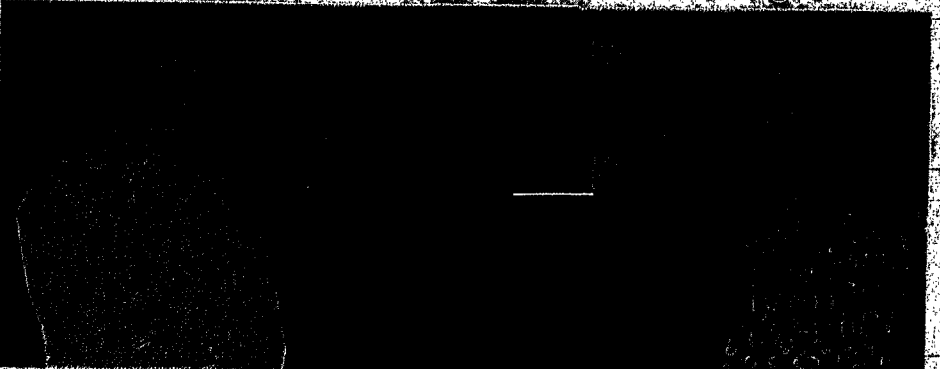

The only real criticism of Dan came from someone who works for him in the City Hall: "He's too easy-going, too kind," this young woman said, "He'll take the blame for something himself rather than hurt the person responsible."

Among politicians, Dan is an unusual man. He manages to accomplish a great deal, without appearing to push anyone. He is a consummate diplomat, which seems to come from respect for others' feelings rather than any conscious plan.

He has been responsible for many important public projects, involving millions of dollars and thousands of new jobs for the Coastal counties, yet when you look at the publicity photos, you never find Dan in the center. As one friend remarked, "It's surprising what you can get done, if you don't care who gets the credit."

Another long-time friend of Dan's said, "I think Dan Guice is one of the most under-estimated men in Mississippi."

Dan has what is probably the most important asset a public man can have: a loving, loyal family whose company he thoroughly enjoys. Their love for Dad is obvious. While this picture was being taken, the photographer was thoroughly entertained by the stream of funny remarks they directed at each other. Good humor, hospitality, and love characterize this family.

Mrs. Guice, the former Margaret Barrett, is a fine singer and member of the church choir, and an active member of the Young Matrons Circle. Daniel, Jr., is a freshman at Ole Miss. Barry is in junior high in Biloxi, where he is following in his father's footsteps as an outstanding scholar. Carolyn, married two months, lives with her husband in Houston.

This is a very important election. We ask that you pay close attention to the candidates' records and intentions as they are revealed to you during the campaign.

We believe that you will conclude, as we have, that Daniel D. Guice is the man best qualified to carry on in Bill Colmer's place.

Respectfully submitted,

Alfred B. Houser

Jehovah's Witnesses Assemble For Meeting

The Bay St. Louis delegation of Jehovah's witnesses completed their role as delegates last Sunday, April 18, when the group's "Conscious of Our Spiritual Needs" (Matthew 5:3) assembly closed at the Civic Auditorium in Chalmette, La.

According to Mr. John L. Hughes, local presiding minister, the assembly attracted delegates from Southeastern Louisiana and Southern Mississippi. Peak attendance reached 3,272 last Sunday, when H. C. Hoskins, Regional Representative of the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, delivered a special public Bible talk on "ARE YOU MARKED FOR SURVIVAL?"

According to Mr. Hughes, Hoskins said:

"Survival of any disaster should be a matter of personal concern. Jehovah's Christian witnesses have Biblically and publicly proved that nations are on a collision course with God. This collision will without fail come. It will be good for the earth. It will bring an end to the ruin of God's property, the earth, war, crime and delinquency.

Bible examples of survivors are recorded for our instruction today. Wise and Godly persons in the past evaluated the conditions and actions from God's viewpoint, acted according to his view and received his protection.

Many religious attitudes and practices today correspond with ancient examples which met God's disfavor. What is then necessary to be marked for survival?

Being one of God's marked ones will mean personal safety when the nations collide with God."

In addition to Hoskins' climactic talk, other highlights of the gathering were a variety of talks and demonstrations on timely Bible subjects such as: "Strengthening the Congregation," "What Are Your Reading Habits?" and "No Part of the World."

The witnesses baptized 59 new ministers last Saturday morning at Chalmette. Hughes said the assembly was a "definite success" in holding the much needed Kingdom of God before the hearts and minds of honest hearted persons in the community.

Coffee House Provides Chance For Local Talent

by Adoree Shortle
 Echo staff writer

Coast residents who didn't attend the Gulf Coast Arts Festival Coffee House last weekend at the Edgewater Plaza missed a good show.

The Coffee House is an annual and unique endeavor of the Coast Junior Auxiliaries as a fund raising activity and an excellent opportunity to showcase local talent.

Most of the talent participating in the four-day Coffee House was young, refreshing and surprisingly good. Entertainers performed on two stages at either end within a large red and white circus tent, providing four hours of non-stop entertainment Thursday through Sunday.

The majority of the youthful performers were students in Coast schools. They were handsome to look at, good to listen to, and what they lacked in professional polish was more than compensated for by exuberance and freshness.

Mostly musical, the acts ranged from singles to seven-piece bands, and a number of college groups was included. All had been screened at auditions held by Junior Auxiliary members in each Coast city prior to the opening and performers received no recompense for participation.

If you didn't attend this or last year, make a special point of attending next year. You'll be glad you did.

GARDEN OF THE MONTH, chosen by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club is the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bermond at 434 Ballentine St. in Bay St. Louis.

Scout Jamboree Set At Vee-Bar

One hundred and thirty Boy Scout Troops, with over 3,000 Scouts and Leaders, will travel to Vee-Bar Ranch on April 21-23 for the 1972 Scout Jamboree. The new camp for the boys of the New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, is located near Sellers in Hancock County.

R.R. Eckart, Jr., General Chairman of the Jamboree, stated, "This will be a showcase for Scouting. Invited guests will include many dignitaries, visitors, Cubs and their Leaders, Scout parents and other friends of Scouting."

There will be three large assemblies: Opening Ceremony at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, a big campfire at 8 p.m., and the presentation of awards at the 11:30 a.m. Closing Ceremony on Sunday.

The Louisiana (National) Guard will assist by providing communications, First Aid stations, traffic control and water trailers for this one-time big event.

Visitors are encouraged to inspect the individual Scout Troop demonstrations on Saturday from 2-4:30 p.m. and on Sunday from 8:30-11 a.m. by experts - Wildlife & Fisheries, Conservation and Forestry.

Let's go to the old ball game is a familiar saying these days. Baseball is in full swing. Local school teams are playing as well as professional teams which started the season on last Saturday. Baseball fans will be glued to T.V.s from now on, since the strike ended last week.

As to fishing, fresh water fish are being caught most everywhere. Most streams have cleared up and with the exception of some high winds, conditions have been perfect. Bass and perch are hitting surface baits again. Some of the best spots for bass are Doe and Buck Bayous, Pearl River proper, Black and Mills Bayous in the Pearl River territory.

Have been informed that speckles were caught off the highway bridge the past week. Among those catching them was Pete Porter who was using the shad rig. Prentiss Asher got some red fish and speckles. Prentiss is an ardent fisherman and goes quite often.

Regarding soft crabs some are being picked up, now and then. The warm weather recently is helping out a lot. More lights are seen nightly about time for the crabs to start really giving.

You can bet that John Ambrosino and Henry Lang have been among the many who have been catching them. They are expert soft crabbers and know their stuff. When it comes to finding them, good meat of crabs always goes mighty good.

Quite a number of fishermen on Hattiesburg have built and purchased homes out in Shore Line Park. They are located in a section called Little Hattiesburg. They spend most weekends fishing Bayou Lacroux and Jordan River. Also making trips out to the marshes.

One of them is W. Jack Herrington. He has a new 22 foot Villcraft boat and 100 h.p. motor. He plans to do quite a bit of deep sea fishing when he retires in the near future. Jack is one of our regular sportmen. He is a neighbor of M.F. Cass also from Hattiesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bush of Hattiesburg have a camp on a Dollar Bayou. Floyd has a restaurant in his home town but spends plenty of time on the Gulf Coast. He does both fresh and salt water fishing. Uses mostly the fly rod.

Was interesting meeting Capt. Ivan Bradford an old Mississippi River boat captain of 37 years. He lives in Bay St. Louis and fishes here as well as doing deep sea fishing out in the marshes where he claims there are plenty perch fishing. That is good news to those who enjoy that kind of fishing.

Now that summer is here there were plenty of speed hulls up Jordan River doing both fresh and salt water fishing with a little skiing thrown in. Everyone to their own liking.

There are quite a few American Coots (Foula Ducks) seen up our rivers and lakes now. Some have become domesticated and spend the summer hereabouts. Of course the season is closed on them.

At this time of the year the Red-winged black birds are plentiful. They are marsh birds and nest in reeds and cocktails. They gather in large flocks during fall, winter and spring. An interesting bird to watch.

Bluegill and goggle-eye perch are really being caught. They are found in quiet streams and lakes. Fly fishing for these beauties is out of this world.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK
PRACTICALLY EVERYONE knows Dave Ladner. He worked for the Hi-way Dept. as bridge tender on the local Hi-way bridge for many years. Dave caught all kinds of fish and hard crabs while on duty. Being retired he should have plenty time to do his fishing.

They are striding small popping bugs right now. Have caught some weighing over a half pound lately. They are a popular pan fish.

Joe Cook Keller is about to begin fishing again, so he said. Better start Joe, they are really being caught.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Daniels, Sr., was saddened Saturday morning when their son young Stevie, 21, was killed in a motorcycle-truck accident. Stevie was a brother of Warren (Butch) Daniels of Slidell and Morris Daniels of New Orleans, our grandson-in-law. Sympathy is extended to the family. Stevie was from Slidell, La.

Pearlington Marina was a busy place over the weekend. The marina is owned and operated by Roy Barker and is an ideal place to get a boat or motor to go fresh water fishing. Fly fishing and casting are good at this time within a stone's throw from the marina. Other spots up Pearl River which are perfect for catching bass and perch are Bogue Horn Bayou, Warbush Bayou, Old River and Walste House going north up Pearl River. From now on some big bass and perch will be taken from waters in this neck of the woods.

Watson Johns always catches fresh water fish. His two favorite places are Pearl River and Jourdan River. Of course he tries other places occasionally. Watson is retired like most of us. Spends a lot of his time after the finny tribe.

About time for Andy Anderson and his fishing buddies to start coming over to his camp in Shore Line Park. The fishing is good, fellows.

Most sportmen who enjoy raising a home garden, have it under way already. What's better than picking tomatoes, egg plants, sweet peppers, etc. in your own back yard? Seem to taste better, too. Mixed with the fish you catch, they are hard to beat. Raise one each year myself.

Snakes are beginning to make their appearance. Another nuisance we can do without. It pays to be on the look out for them when picking black berries which are ripening now.

When using a fly line always use the little eyelet that comes with it in which to tie the leader. There will be no knot to catch in a guide on the rod.

Can't find any dops on how good salt water fishermen are doing out along the marshes at Biloxi Bayou, Pole Cate, Cat Bend, Little Lake, etc. Will pass it along later.

Happy days are here again for the skidders of this area. Hope they have a lot of fun and remember many have boats for other sports, boating, fishing, sailing, etc. Respect them when passing them. They have a right to the waters too.

Hard crabs should be making their appearance soon. A few were caught off the seawall lately. Fish heads, chicken necks, or scrap meat (if you can find any) are excellent baits for crabbing. A few crab nets will get enough hard crabs for boiled crabs, steamed crabs or that good old crab gumbo.

Flash! Just received word that some speckle trout, flounders and croakers were caught in Jourdan River over the weekend. Good news for all fishermen.

'Mr. Roberts' Called 'Great Entertainment'

by Douglas Koger

One of the criteria of a good play is whether or not a combination of actors, set, props, et al. have convinced the audience that the characters and story they have seen were real. Another criteria is whether or not the audience felt they were sufficiently entertained. The St. Stanislaus production of "Mr. Roberts" presented last Thursday and Friday night

Feeney Honored

By Christ Episcopal

The first anniversary of the dedication of the new Christ Episcopal Church was held Sunday.

During the ceremony, Terence Feeney, who served as senior warden after destruction of the church by Hurricane Camille, was recognized by Rev. Charles R. Johnson, pastor, and Waldo Dearing, senior warden, and presented a plaque, which will be permanently affixed to the church, in recognition of his outstanding work following its destruction and during construction of the new building.

A brunch in Virginia Hall, with women of the church in charge, followed the 10 a. m. family service.

Langley Attends Explorer Congress

Gil Langley, 17, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Langley of Waveland, was second runner-up for national president at the second annual National Explorer Presidents Congress in Washington, D. C.

At the conference, held at the Sheraton-Park Hotel in Washington, Gil was elected the presidential candidate for the southeastern states. He was among the four finalists and finished third, missing the final runoff by 30 votes.

While attending Waveland Elementary School he was a member of Waveland's Cub Scout Pack. Mrs. Joe Griffith was den mother.

easily met both of these criteria.

This tremendously successful production was achieved in spite of several "handicaps" which would probably have overwhelmed the average thespian, producer or director. These "handicaps" were, a stage which had to be skillfully crafted in the recreation hall, an older well worn (but popular) story, and a youthful company of players. With the skillful and dedicated direction of Burt Barrett, the untiring and resourceful efforts of producer, Mrs. Beverly Zimmerman, the ingenious and artistic skills of Brother Joseph Donovan and Brother Timothy, S. C., the audience was, as we were, convinced of the poignant characterizations of Mr. Roberts and the other wretched crew members aboard the cargo ship A.K. 601.

The young men of St. Stanislaus, again this year, as they have done so fantastically well in the past, have proven themselves in the thespian arts. Outstanding lead performances were turned in by Mike Flynn as the lovable but miserable Mr. Roberts; Vic Frankiewicz as the affable, jocular Doc; and Pierre Leger as the despicable Captain. Almost stealing the show, was Kenny Klempeter who can have a great future in acting, for his portrayal of the playful, near-adolescent Ensign Pulver. We were convinced that Kenny was (and maybe still is) Ensign Pulver. These young men's performances are even more noteworthy when you consider that they must live their characterizations without the more mature actor's real world experiences to draw upon.

Rounding out the happy-go-lucky, but sometimes pitiable crew were Buddy Zimmerman as Dowdy, Steven Scott as the signals, Mike Amodeo as Mannheim, Ed Traweck as Lindstrom, Nick Garrett as Stefanowski, John Brown as Willy, Chuck White as Schlimmer, Phillip DeGruy as Reber, Steve Pallet as Dolan, Doug McCas as Gerhart, Jeff Gurner as the Shore Patrolman. Great versatility was displayed by Jeff Gurner, Phillip DeGruy, and John Brown, who played dual roles.

If the boys think they get all the credit for the success of the production, they better forget it. One brave lass by the name of Franya Frankiewicz came in to play Lt. Ann Girard in a very professional manner. A double bouquet to Franya for surviving the show with all those male "hairs".

A critic must be permitted to select a bit part actor who seemed to stick out above some of the rest. We took note of one (there were others). Without delving into detail, we feel that Steven Scott as insignia is destined for many lead roles in the future.

We'll probably never know how many busy artistic hands went into creation of the A.K. 601 from mere cardboard, wood and paint. With simplistic lines and form these crude materials became a ship, a ward room, and a crew's quarters. Sound, lighting, special effects were also professional. Bravo - back stage crew.

To cap off a fine evening of entertainment, Brother Pierre's newly formed choral group accompanied by Mrs. Ben Hille, sang a number of popular musical arrangements. If you missed this great production, shame on you. If you miss another (and there are many) you are just not interested in great live entertainment.

Brightest Moments with Cherry Cobbler

Sour cherries, or pie cherries, as we used to call them, are one of summer's fruits that lose very little of their color or goodness in the canning process. And desserts made with this fruit are an easy way to bring cheer to tables any time of year.

Of all cherry desserts, the cobbler is among the easiest to prepare. Thicken the juices deliciously with corn starch and top the cobbler with a soft biscuit dough. Serve warm.

Cherry Cobbler

1 (16-ounce) can red sour cherries, packed in water
 1 cup sugar
 1 tablespoon corn starch
 2 teaspoons vanilla
 1 teaspoon lemon juice
 2 drops red food coloring
 1 recipe biscuit dough

Drain cherries, reserving 1/2 cup juice. Mix together juice, sugar and corn starch in a small saucepan over medium heat. Bring to boil, stirring constantly, and boil 1 minute. Stir in margarine, lemon juice and food coloring. Remove from heat. Add cherries.

Four cherry mixtures into 10 x 6 x 1 1/2 inch baking dish. Drop biscuit dough by small spoonfuls onto hot cherry mixture. Bake in a 400-degree F. (hot) oven 20 minutes. Make 6 to 8 servings.

WILLIAM ANDREWS, JR.
Andrews
Enters Race
For Congress

Purvis Attorney and former Legislator of Lamar County announced Friday he is a candidate for the Fifth Congressional District seat being vacated by retiring Congressman, William Colmer.

Andrews, born in Jones County, reared in Purvis, Lamar County, served in the State Legislature from 1948-1952.

His formal announcement follows:

"With the retirement of Congressman Colmer, the Fifth Congressional District finds itself and the people with a most serious problem of replacing Congressman Colmer, who has served the District so well for the past 40 years.

The issues will be foreign and domestic; the war and the economy.

There is only one solution to these problems which I will discuss, choose your course, the war abroad or domestic problems at home; inflation, wages, prices, education, youth and the aged; pollution and environment development of inland and coastal resources of the district which is blessed with abundance of natural resources and labor for the economical development.

I am familiar with all segments of our economy and government, having served in the Legislature, represented the Board of Supervisors, Board of Education and municipalities from the local to the state level as well as practicing law for almost 20 years in all of our Courts, State and Federal.

Therefore, I have a thorough knowledge of the problems of the average farmer, laboring man, businessman, our professional and vocational people from the local, state and national level in the Fifth Congressional District.

Outside of my law practice, which has been my devotion and life, I have always been interested in my community, country, state and nation as to economic progress and general welfare of the public to which I have devoted time, effort and energy for many reasons other than an active practice of law.

That I am married to the former Donnis Thompson, have one son, Billy, a college student at the University of Southern Mississippi; two teen-age daughters, both and Phyllis, in high school; and son, Bob, in the seventh grade.

I believe in doctrines of peace and tranquility, law and order with a feeling for all of our people - teen-agers and elderly alike - so that our District will be the best place in the state and nation in which to live, of which I have always been ever aware.

Thou, time is of the essence in the busy life that we find ourselves and I will not be able to see or visit each voter personally; I do through this media seek the support and vote of
